Hake Chagrined; Indian Popular

One day recently Herbert Hake, director of radio and television at ISTC, made a seemingly innocent off-the-cuff remark on his weekly television program, "Landmarks in Iowa History."

Mr. Hake was using a cartoon of Indian Chief Blackhawk to demonstrate to fifth, sixth, and seventh graders how to pronounce the name in Indian.

Ma-ka-tai-me-she-kia-kiak

"Tell you what, boys and girls," he said, "If you'd like a copy of this cartoon for your notebooks just write in to me and I'll send you one."

To date, Mr. Hake estimates he has received requests for 1,530 copies of the cartoon. "It's going to break us," Mr. Hake bemoaned. The 1,530 photographs of the cartoon, at eight cents apiece, must all come out of the radio and television office budget.

The response which Mr. Hake received to his offer gives some indication of the wide audience held by the eighteen weekly radio and television broadcasts presented this year by faculty members at ISTC.

The nine programs included in "College of the Air" are designed to supplement work given by classroom teachers in the elementary and secondary grades. The programs are broadcast during school hours so that teachers may tune in on them for classroom listening.

They kept warning me this would happen if I didn't think of some super way to describe that absolutely unique good taste of Coca-Cola. So who's a Shakespeare? So no ad... that's bad! But, there's always Coke... and that's good!
